The catfish is farm raised in Macon, Mississippi. The oysters are harvested on the Gulf coast, somewhere between Apalachicola and Galveston. The chickens are fed a vegetarian diet and raised cage free. The kale and most of the lettuces are grown hydroponically here in Jacksonville. The pork chops are from naturally raised Duroc hogs. The tempeh is from Gainesville. Pretty much everything is made from scratch. We try not to, but sometimes we run out of things.

The health department says we have to tell you that consuming raw or undercooked meats, poultry, seafood, shellfish, or eggs may increase your risk of foodborne illness, especially if you have certain medical conditions. But medium-rare steaks and runny egg yolks are delicious. Vegan or vegetarian items may be cooked on surfaces or in oils that have previously been in contact with poultry, meat, or fish. If we screw anything up, please let us know so we can fix it and make you happy, that's what we're about.
